McArthur and Ray End Training for Monday's Go

PRINCIPALS IN FINE CONDITION

S. C. Boxer Anxious to Make Up for Former Defeat.

Earl McArthur and Benny Ray, principals in the 10 round final bout of Connie Curry's boxing show at Mizzou park Monday night, will take their final workouts this afternoon. Both boxers are down to weight and both are confident of winning. McArthur is anxious to win—in fact must win if he wishes to uphold his prestige with Sioux City boxing fans. He lost a newspaper verdict to Ray at Recreation hall in June and he believes that he will even the score tomorrow night.

McArthur has trained faithfully for the fight and does not intend to be caught out of shape. He appreciates the fact that Ray is a tough customer and he is prepared to move just as fast as his St. Paul opponent. Ray is a hard punching boxer. He is willing to exchange punches with "Mac" and some lively exchanges are expected when they clash.

Eddie Morris will meet Mike Sauro in the eight-round semi-final bout. Morris, who has had several chances to make himself wealthy and failed to take advantage of them, has trained more faithfully for this bout than for any of his fights since he met Dago Joe Gans, reports have it. He is down to 155 pounds, which is an indication that he is in shape. His opponent does not profess to be a boxer—just a slugger who likes to exchange punches. Sauro has defeated Dago Joe Gans and has a victory over Earl Blue on his record. He will arrive tonight.

Popular prices will prevail for the program, ringside seats selling for $1.50, boxes for $1 and grandstand seats for 50 cents.

BANTAM CROWN BOUT AMBITION OF TAYLOR

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 7. (AP)—When Bud Taylor climbs through the ropes in Chicago Labor day to box Charley "Pill" Rosenberg for the bantamweight championship, he will have accomplished an ambition of years' standing.

Taylor has seen bantamweight champions come and go and has met a number of them—but not when they held the title. The local fighter has been persistently avoided by the crown wearers. Afterwards, with nothing at stake, several of them have exchanged punches with Indiana's challenger and were beaten.

Many sports writers have proclaimed Taylor the uncrowned champion since Joe Lynch held the title several years ago. Lynch would not meet Taylor, and finally was relieved of his championship by Abe Goldstein, a fellow New Yorker. Goldstein did not meet Taylor, and dropped the crown to Eddie Martin of Brooklyn. On March 20, 1925, Rosenberg outpointed Martin in 15 rounds in New York and won the championship.

Rosenberg and Taylor have boxed once, the Hoosier winning on points in 12 rounds, in 1923. When boxing was legalized in Illinois several months ago, every effort was made to bring Rosenberg and Taylor together in Chicago. The articles were ready to be signed when the match fell through.

Taylor is at his best at 120 pounds. Two years ago, it looked as though he had reached the end, for his right shoulder was injured and would not stay in place. In several bouts he took a punch, dropped to the floor and pulled the shoulder back into joint. A New York surgeon remedied the trouble, however, and Taylor immediately began a winning streak which included victories over Doc Snell, Jimmy McLarnin, Abe Goldstein, Ernie Goozeman and Bushy Graham.

Taylor is 23 years old and has been boxing for more than six years.

BULLDOGS HAVE HEAVY SCHEDULE FOR THIS FALL

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 7.—Starting October 2, when they clash with the always powerful University of Nebraska eleven, at Lincoln, Coach Ossie Solem and his Drake university Bulldogs this season will face the toughest football schedule in the history of the local institution.

The official schedule for the 1926 gridiron season, as announced by Solem, includes the following games:

October 2—Nebraska at Lincoln.
October 9—Navy at Annapolis.
October 16—Oklahoma at Drake (Dad's day).
October 23—Mississippi at Drake (State day).
October 30—Kansas at Drake (homecoming).
November 6—Open date.
November 13—Iowa State college at Ames.
November 20—Notre Dame at South Bend.
November 25—Grinnell at Drake (Thanksgiving).

Faced with the loss of a half dozen stars through graduation, Solem this year will have another opportunity to display his resourcefulness in building a machine that will be able to cope successfully with the powerful opposition scheduled.

However, the Bulldog mentor has several promising youngsters from last year's freshman eleven whom he hopes will be able to fill the gaps left by graduated veterans, and Drake adherents thus early are predicting that Solem will develop another strong, versatile eleven by the time Nebraska is met in the opening game of the season at Lincoln.

Smarting from their 14-9 defeat at the hands of Drake last year, it is a sure bet that the Cornhuskers will exert themselves to the limit to even matters, October 2, by trying to give the Bulldogs a drubbing.

Trudie Congratulated by Clarabelle Barrett

(Copyright, 1926, by New York Times.)

Dover, Aug. 7.—Miss Clarabelle Barrett, the New Rochelle teacher who came within two miles of swimming the channel the other day, today congratulated Gertrude Ederle.

"You are wonderful," she said. "How did you do it? America will love you."

13 VETERANS TO BE ON SQUAD AT IOWA TEACHERS

Cedar Falls, Ia., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Thirteen letter men are expected to report to P. E. Bender, head football coach, for gridiron practice this fall, L. L. Mendenhall, director of athletics, reports. In addition, there will be 21 reserves of the 1925 team ready to report. This showing forecasts excellent prospects for the Tutors' team.

Capt. Harry Bacon, all-conference tackle, 1924, of Washington, Ia., will guide the destinies of the team this year. The prospective team has plenty of excellent material, with the exception of guard position, where three of last year's team will probably be relied upon. The men are Meyer and Tollefson, Waterloo, and Orr, Cedar Falls.

The football schedule comprises five Iowa collegiate conference games, three non-conference games, and one open date.

The schedule:

September 25—Teachers at St. Thomas college, St. Paul.
October 9—Teachers at Buena Vista college.
October 16—Buena Vista at Teachers college.
October 22—Penn college at Teachers college.
October 30—Teachers at Luther.
November 6—Open.
November 12—Teachers at Upper Iowa university.
November 20.—Teachers at Parsons college.
November 27—Teachers at Colorado Teachers college, Greeley, Colo.

BUENA VISTA TO CLASH WITH 5 IOWA TEAMS

Storm Lake, Ia., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Buena Vista college, here, has completed its bookings for the 1926 football schedule, with eight games scheduled, Evert Leon Jones, president, announces.

Five of the games are with Iowa intercollegiate teams, while three games will be played in the non-conference field, with South Dakota State, Trinity and St. Ambrose colleges.

Half of the games will be played at home and half abroad.

The complete schedule:

October 2—Buena Vista at Des Moines university.
October 7—Buena Vista at South Dakota State.
October 15—Buena Vista at State Teachers college.
October 23—Western Union college at Buena Vista.
October 30—Penn college at Buena Vista.
November 6—Ellsworth college at Buena Vista.
November 14—Trinity college at Buena Vista.
November 25—Buena Vista at St. Ambrose college.

TUNNEY LAYS HIS GOLF CLUBS AWAY AND STARTS WORK

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

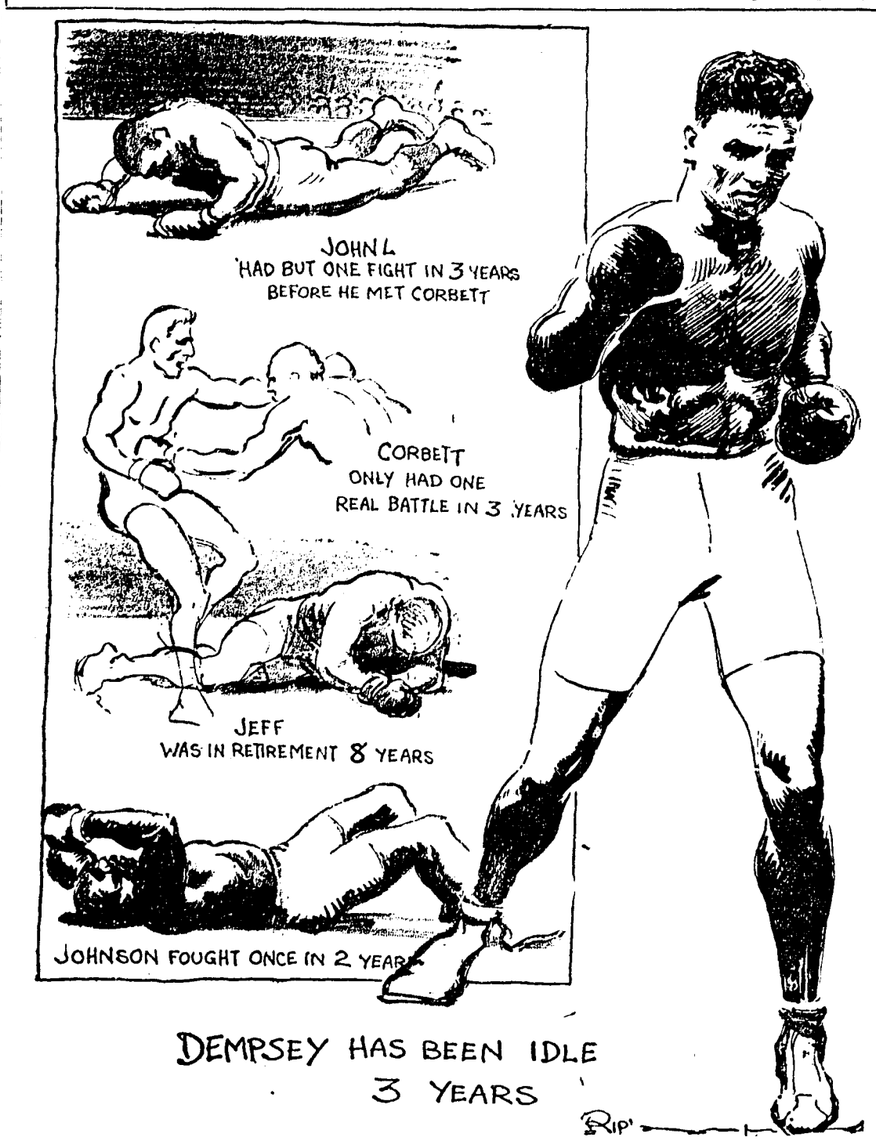
Lake Pleasant, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Gene Tunney, golfer extraordinary, has laid aside his mashie and niblick to devote all his time to the more serious business of getting into top shap for his forthcoming exchange of fisticuffs with William Harrison Dempsey.

The unexpected arrival in camp of an old friend, Maj. Bob Colt, of the marine aviation corps, put Gene in high spirits. The major gave Gene his first fight in France, matching him with Sergeant Bob Martin. That bout eventually led him to the position he now occupies in the heavyweight ranks.

While Tunney is hopeful of favorable action from the license commission next Tuesday, he is holding himself in readiness for a flying trip to New York if Tex Rickard sends the word. If Gene should have to make the trip, he will fly from Saratoga by hydroplane so as to get back into camp early Tuesday evening.

Gene weighed 197 pounds after today's training spree before 500 customers.

He Who Hesitates —By Ripley



He who hesitates is lost.

So it seems. Let Dempsey have a care.

John L. had been out of the ring three years when he met Corbett in New Orleans on that memorable evening in 1892.

Corbett, in turn, laid off practically the same length of time before he met Fitz. Gentleman Jim boxed Sharkey a four-round draw in San Francisco—his only contest in the three years previous to the disaster at Carson City in 1897.

Fitz won the title in 1897 and then rested two years before losing it to Jeff in 1899.

Jeffries was unusually active for a champion, but ran out of opponents and retired in 1902. The story of his attempt to "come back" after eight years of inactivity is a sad tale.

Jack Johnson fooled around for five years engaging in joke bouts before he lost to Willard. He did nothing for two years previous to meeting big Jess.

Willard fought one 10-round no-decision bout with Frank Moran during the four years he held the title. He had not entered the ring in three years until he clambered through the ropes that hot day at Toledo.

It would seem that three years of idleness is fatal to champions. And Dempsey has been idle three years!

S. C. WOMAN WILL TEE OFF FIRST IN STATE GOLF MEET

Des Moines, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Roy McKee, Sioux City champion, and Mrs. Preston Daniels, of Des Moines, will be the first to tee off Monday morning in the opening round of the annual woman's state golf tournament over the Wakonda course here. Other pairs will follow at five-minute intervals.

Out of town entries were equal to expectations, but the Des Moines entry list was disappointing.

Mrs. C. D. Waterman, of Davenport, state champion, will not defend her title.

A partial list of the out of town entries follows:

Mrs. A. C. Clapp, Harlan; Miss La Grange, Storm Lake; Mrs. B. H. Kingsbury, Sioux City; Mrs. W. N. Porter, Fort Dodge; Mrs. Elbert Dow, Rock Island; Mrs. R. D. Morris, Red Oak; Mrs. W. W. Pearce, Webster City; Miss Dorothy Toy, Sioux City; Mrs. Roy Smock, Waterloo; Miss Margaret E. West, Cedar Rapids; Mrs. G. E. Hansen, Council Bluffs; Mrs. J. N. Pursul, Marshalltown, and Mrs. Grosenbaugh, Fort Dodge.

Swimming Record Broken.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Martha Norelius, of the Women's Swimming association, of New York, clipped 11 seconds off the world's record in winning the national half-mile title in the women's national A. A. U. swimming championship at the sesquicentennial pool today.

SPORTS IMMORTALS

Because this Cleveland pitcher is not without honor in his home town.

Because right now he leads the league in number of full games pitched—with 20 credited to him in recent averages.

Because he is one of the league leaders in percentage of victories, with 16 wins and 8 defeats, according to those averages.

Because he is also the leading hurler of his team, by the same token.

Because his reversal of form from last season is one of the main reasons why the Indians are fighting for nothing less than second place this fall.

Because his work is giving Clevelanders much to rave about, for George is a product of the Cleveland sandlots—given his first trial by Lee Fohl some years ago and kept by the team ever since through success and defeat.

FAIRMONT CLUB LOSES SLUGGING MATCH TO CARDS

The Fairmont Creamery team lost a slugging contest to Cherokee at Cherokee Saturday afternoon by a 7-10 score. The losers got 10 hits and the winners 12. One of the Fairmont hits was a homer by Kellogg with one on base in the fourth inning. The Fairmont team will meet Kingsley today at Kingsley.

K. C. GOLFERS IN HANDICAP MEET MONDAY

Entries in the Knights of Columbus golf tournament will tee off Monday at the Country club in the annual handicap meet for the Gatens Jewelry company trophy.

Officials of the tournament expect at least 30 entries. The play will go for 18 holes.

Rickard's Confidence in His Big Fight Gets Considerable of Jolt

Reception Given to Harry Wills Not to Change Him, However.

By Sparrow McGann.

(Special Correspondent of The Journal—Copyright, 1926, by the Consolidated Press Association.)

New York, Aug. 7.—Tex Rickard's confidence in the popularity of the Dempsey-Tunney fight was jolted but not flattened this week when Harry Wills was greeted with cheers and Jack Dempsey with jeers at a card of bouts they attended in Madison Square garden.

It was a rather dramatic little incident and an embarrassing one for Dempsey when Wills walked down the aisle and was given an ovation as he stopped to shake hands with the champion. Most of the New York fight critics hailed it as further evidence that public opinion supports Wills in his demand for a chance at the title.

Rickard Loses Temper.

Rickard, however, was mad clean through and openly charged that the whole affair was a carefully laid plan to embarrass himself as well as Dempsey. Tex may be upset a bit by this bitter pill, but he will not be swerved from his purpose, in fact, he is said to be so thoroughly peeved that he is even more determined to push the Dempsey-Tunney scrap through and leave Wills indefinitely out in the cold.

This business of judging public opinion on the heavyweights' little dispute is a triffle different. Last year a number of newspapers conducted a poll among fight fans to find out whom they considered the logical contender for the heavyweight title. Wills led the field.

Rickard differs with the result of the straw vote. He points to the large number of applications coming in from all parts of the country for tickets to the Dempsey-Tunney fight. This would seem to indicate that the fight has struck a popular fancy. Tex is filing the reservations away at the rate of 600 a day.

Dempsey will pitch his camp the coming week within a short ride of the Saratoga racetrack and the chances are that the spectators will begin to flock in at so much per throw to get a glimpse of the champion.

Dempsey says he is in fine condition and aching to fight anyone. It matters not to him that Gene Tunney was picked as his opponent. They all look alike to him.

Not Harmed by Layoff.

The champion scoffs at the idea that the long vacation has done him any harm. He claims he has been working all the time and has not permitted himself to get out of condition. Jack is a natural fighter and for that reason has nothing to lose by a prolonged absence from active competition. Condition is the thing that counts with him and he feels that he will toe the mark against the New Yorker little if any different from the Jack of old.

Students of form fail to agree with Dempsey. They have seen too many go by the wayside when called upon and the same old answer was sure to come: "Kept away too long. Never felt better in my life; was sure I could go through with a good fight."

Gene Tunney is not a man to trifle with. He may be a mechanical fighter and all that, but the fact that Tunney is far and above the usual run of pugilists and has brains makes him all the more dangerous.

Tunney Is Real Student.

Tunney is a student of the game. No doubt he has learned much from watching Dempsey in several battles and his fight with Gibbons was a post graduate course in the art of fisticuffs. Gene has been figuring ways and means to overcome Dempsey's style of milling and is hard at work perfecting his defense. His preliminary work consists of having his sparring partners rush at him full tilt and keep on punching away without a letup.

Lives Out in Open.

Living out in the open away from the crowds of the city is another factor Tunney is counting on. He is determined to make the fight of his life and is leaving nothing undone to further that end.

Meanwhile Dempsey hints that he will surprise the wise one and Tunney. Those who expect to see Dempsey fight his old battle are in for a disappointment. Jack says he is learning how to box and may show his opponent a few tricks of which he is supposed to be a master.

Others before Dempsey tried the same trick, changing their style of battle on the eve of an important fight. They failed and it may be that Jack Dempsey will be another.

Kids in Trudie's Neighborhood Get All the Hot Dogs They Want

Excitement Prevails in Household of Famous Girl Swimmer.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

New York, Aug. 7.—"Hot dog," was the exclamation of a few dozen youngsters in the neighborhood of the Ederle apartment in New York when they heard the news of Trudie's triumph.

That gave her uncle, John Ederle, an inspiration today.

From the Ederle butcher shop he distributed dozens of pounds of frankfurters to the youngsters who flocked to the scene. Generous strings of them were given away.

Mother Signs Many Telegrams.

Meanwhile at the Ederle summer home, a little red bungalow on the banks of the Shrewsbury river, Highlands, N. J., Gertrude Ederle, sr., Trudie's mother, signed telegrams until, as she expressed it, she was threatened with writer's cramp.

"I haven't had a square meal in two days," she said. "There have been callers every minute that there weren't messages to be answered or news to be heard. But it's wonderful. No surprise, though. We all knew Trudie could do it."

While Helen Ederle, 28, and her brother, George, 16, at the New York News office, telephoned word of their sister's progress through the shifting tides of the channel 300 neighbors gathered in front of the cottage to receive it. William Kurz, proprietor of a hotel at Highlands, dashed back and forth with bulletins. The two younger children, Emma, 13, and Henry, jr., 6, received them with whoops of joy and ran to the porch to bear the news to the mother.

Learned to Swim as Child.

"Trudie learned to swim in the Shrewsbury river 10 years ago. She was 9 then," Mrs. Ederle recalled. "I can't remember the first day she went swimming, as all five of the youngsters acted more or less like little ducks.

"I haven't had a cable from my husband or Trudie yet. They know, of course, that we got the news promptly. Probably they're too excited to send any messages right now.

"They, with Margaret—that is, Mrs. Deutschle, my eldest daughter—will visit relatives in Bissinger, Germany, for three weeks before returning to this country."

One thing more—

It was rather a delicate question, but curiosity prevailed.

Mrs. Ederle said Gertrude had never had a sweetheart.

EDERLE MAKES POOR HEROINE

Says Its Easier to Swim Channel than to Make Speeches.

By Julia Harpman.

(Sioux City Journal-Chicago Tribune Press Service—Copyright 1926.)

Cape Gris Nez, France, Aug. 7.—Gertrude Ederle, English channel champion, is a heroine today, but the role doesn't suit her. She confided to me on the way over from Dover to Boulogne today that she felt like running away and hiding somewhere to escape the hero worshipers who are besieging her everywhere she goes.

"Its a lot easier to swim the channel than to make a speech," she told me, after her faltering effort this morning to thank, from the balcony of the Hotel Grand, in Dover, a tremendous crowd which had come with a band to cheer her for her history making triumph over the bitter waters of the Straits of Dover yesterday.

Flowers Fill Suite.

Flowers sent by total strangers filled her party's suite, and the mayor of Dover motored to the hotel to congratulate her. A great shouting throng followed our cars down to the channel boats dock and the welcome at Boulogne was even larger and more enthusiastic, as becomes the nature of the French people, who, like her new found English friends, stand aghast at the marvelous courage and stamina and water cleaving ability of this girl who will not be 20 years old until October 17.

Trudie is "back home" in Gris Nez tonight and tired but mighty happy. She seems principally glad for her father and mother's sake that she succeeded in making the crossing on her second attempt in as many summers.

She was seasick and lame in her legs last night from lying in a cramped position on the short, hard cot in the stuffy little cabin of the bucking channel tug, Alsace, on the trip down to Dover from Kingsdown beach, where she ended her momentous swim from Gris Nez. But the first hot bath she had indulged in since she arrived here in the second week of June to train for her efforts, a night of repose if not of sleep—for she was too nervously excited to slumber for more than a few brief catnaps—and another hot bath and a massage by her trainer, Thomas William Burgess, this morning, had her seemingly every bit as fit as when she started on her great endurance test.

Country Clubs in Golf Tournament at Slayton

Slayton, Minn., Aug. 7.—Special: The Slayton and Fulda golf clubs will hold an inter-club golf tournament today at the Slayton Country club. This is a return tournament for one played with Fulda at Fulda. The tournament at Fulda was won by the Slayton players 11 up.

Sloan Defeats Winnebago.

Winnebago, Neb., Aug. 7.—In a baseball contest that went 11 innings, the Sloan nine took the measure of the Winnebago Indian team, 7 to 6 in a contest played here yesterday. The Sloan team won by its high powered slugging as it chalked up 13 hits to the Indians' 10 safe blows. The score:

Sloan	7	13	2
Winnebago	6	10	2

MEETS M'ARTHUR

Benny Ray.

Just to show that his first victory over Earl McArthur was no fluke, Benny Ray says he will give the Sioux City slugger another licking when they meet tomorrow night at Mizzou park in the main event of Connie Curry's boxing show. Ray arrived in Sioux City late Friday and took a brisk workout Saturday afternoon. He was just one pound over the required 122 pounds on his arrival and anticipated no difficulty in making the weight. Ray met McArthur and defeated him on the last card held at Recreation hall. He is a willing youngster with a good punch in either hand.

EIGHT GAMES ON PARSONS' 1926 GRID SCHEDULE

Fairfield, Ia., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Six Iowa collegiate conference games are scheduled on the football calendar of Parsons college this season. Three of these games are to be played in other towns and three will be played at home. Non-conference games are with Still college at Fairfield, and with Coe college at Cedar Rapids. There is one open date, that of October 16.

The football staff at Parsons college is comprised of Glenn Devine, coach, and Carrol Keesey, assistant coach.

Parsons college football schedule follows:

September 25—Still College of Osteopathy, at Parsons.
October 2—Central college, at Parsons.
October 9—Penn college, there.
October 16—Open.
October 23—Coe college, there.
October 30—Simpson at Parsons. (Homecoming).
November 5—Des Moines university, there.
November 20—State Teachers' college at Parsons.
November 25 — Iowa Wesleyan, there.

FIVE CONFERENCE GAMES ON BILL FOR PENN TEAM

Oskaloosa, Ia., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Penn college's football schedule this season is made up of five Iowa collegiate conference games, two non-conference games and one open date.

Conference games are with Parsons, Buena Vista, State Teachers, Iowa Wesleyan and Simpson colleges. Only two of them—those with Parsons and Simpson—are to be played here. Non-conference games are with Grinnell here and with St. Ambrose here.

The schedule:

September 25—Grinnell college at Penn.
October 9—Parsons at Penn.
October 15—Penn at Buena Vista
October 22—Penn at State Teachers.
November 5—St. Ambrose at Penn.
November 11—Penn at Iowa Wesleyan.
November 25—Simpson at Penn.

Coach A. M. Sanderson reports the football prospects for Penn are exceptionally bright, with a large number of veterans returning. The only letter men lost by graduation are Ware, end; Rich, center; Patterson, quarterback, and Macy, end.

BOWLERS TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT AT WAR EAGLE ALLEYS

Bowlers of the city will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the War Eagle alleys to discuss with J. E. Jarosh, secretary of the Midwest Bowling association, plans for the annual tournament of the association, which will be rolled off here in November.

This tournament will be the high spot of bowling activities in Iowa for next year. It will bring to Sioux City no less than 1,000 visitors and is expected to be a big help in putting this city on the map as a real bowling center.

Howard Martin is president of the Sioux City Midwest Bowling association.

DEMPSEY BEGINS TRAINING GRIND

Champion Changes Plans and Starts Working in New York.

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Shifting his previous plans, Jack Dempsey put on the gloves today for the first time in a week and stepped through an hour's brisk workout at a local gymnasium to keep himself from going stale during his enforced stay in New York.

The heavyweight champion boxed three rounds with Johnny Dundee, the veteran former featherweight champion, then stepped two more with a Canadian lightweight. Mickey McGowan, after which he shadow boxed and punched the bag for several minutes.

Considering his long absence from competition, Dempsey's speed and timing of blows were impressive and convinced observers that a few weeks of hard work will put him in good form.

Dempsey plans to do road work in Central park and engage in gymnasium workouts daily, pending the outcome of his application for a license to fight Gene Tunney here on September 16. The champion and his challenger are to appear before the state athletic commission to settle the issue next Tuesday.

ST. LOUIS THIRD SACKER LEADING IN SENIOR LOOP

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Lester Bell, of St. Louis, became the leader of the hitters in the National league during the past week, finishing a consistent season of batting, which at no time bordered on the sensational. Lester simply plugged along and although he is technically in a tie with Bressler, of Cincinnati, the honor must be accorded to the Cardinal slugger as he has figured in 104 games to Bressler's 74.

It was a negative advance as Bell lost five points during the week but his chief competitors were in the same fix, Bressler losing six. Grantham, of Pittsburgh, gained one point and is only one back of the twin leaders.

Stephenson, of Chicago, and Hargrave, of Cincinnati, continue to knock for admission among the elect. Hargrave, having the misfortune of being a catcher, does not figure in so many games. Stephenson has been in the league long enough for a participation of almost one-third of the schedule. He has been continually climbing ever since he came and tops all the regulars with a mark of .378. The intermittent Kelly, of the Cubs, has a still higher figure.

The losses and gains during the week were about evenly divided. Williams, of Philadelphia, contributed one of the biggest advances to the statistics with 19 points, which puts the home run hitter right among the leaders. Cuyler, of Pittsburgh, did well enough but Traynor, of the same team, failed to hold his own. Herman, of Brooklyn, is still sliding. Walker, of Cincinnati, and Lindstrom, of New York, gained a trifle.

The Giants, as a team, just held their own and it may be noticed that Lindstrom is the first regular to show that he can boast of an average of only .331. Hornsby got back in the game long enough to add two points to his average.

The spectacular was lacking during the week. Home runs did not clutter up the box scores. Wilson, of Chicago, and Bottomley, of St. Louis, each added one, which kept them in a tie at 15.

Two gained in team hitting, four dropped back and two were stationary. Meadows, of Pittsburgh, assumed the lead among the pitchers.

Big Time Planned at Edgerton, August 20

Edgerton, Minn., Aug. 7.—Special: A big harvest festival and homecoming will be staged at Edgerton, Minn., August 20 by members of the Edgerton American legion post. A full program of baseball games, races, water fights, dances and other attractions will provide entertainment.

The LeMars, Ia., baseball team will play the Lismore team as the feature attraction of the day. John Donaldson, great negro hurler, will be in the box for Lismore. A second baseball game will be played between the Edgerton team of 1907 and the Jasper, Minn., team of the same year. The Edgerton team of 1907 was never defeated by any team composed of white men.

FIGHT RESULTS

(By the Associated Press.)

Chicago.—Archie Bell, New York, defeated Bobby Hughes, New Orleans, (10). Ever Hammer, Chicago, knocked out Tony Saunders, Chicago, (3). Billy Showers, St. Paul, defeated Mike Dale, Decatur, (10).
