

race, but not in a walk. The ball game between the dandy and darky Tennessee Rats and the Tenold Nine went 9 to 1 in favor of the darkies. That the Tenold boys "done noble" is evidenced by the fact that the Rodents shut out the fine Mason City club a few days ago. Mr. Ray Richmond umpired the game, acceptably. Another feature which should not pass unnoticed was the fine industrial parade by Kensett business men—ingeniously and beautifully decorated autos to the number of twenty or thereabouts. There was plenty of music, and something doing all the time, the crowds being big, orderly and well handled. We regret that our space and information allows only for general statement of a matter that was so well worthy of detail. It seems to us that every Northwood person whose health or business would permit of it "got there" at some time during the day; we trust the good people of Kensett and vicinity will reciprocate when fair time comes; and we also, and earnestly, hope there will be something on display to warrant it.

Game Info: Game played August 23, 1911. Kensett, IA