$100 GUARANTEE!

We agree to forfeit $100 to charity to those who can prove that Acme Minerals are other than the 9 ingredients as we have advertised and shown on our literature. Acme Minerals are being sold in every state in the union.

When you feed Acme Minerals you know what you are feeding. Will ship each ingredient sack separately and you can mix your own, at the same price as the mixed. Do not buy a mineral mixture that is sold on a secret formula and where the manufacturer only tells you some of the names of the ingredients and not giving you the number of parts or proportions used.

There seems to be something wrong or the manufacturers would give you their formula, and if they do give you the formula read it carefully and compare it with the Acme and you will see that the expensive ingredients are left out. Be sure that you have the number of parts of each ingredient and their names when you compare them with Acme Minerals.

Our Dealer, Mr. John J. VanGerpen, Buffalo Center, Iowa, will be pleased to give you the free formula on Acme Minerals, or write us for same.

Acme Minerals are the cheapest in price—one pound per head per month which is cheaper than all others.

Will have an exhibit at the county fair Forest City, Iowa, next to the hog barn, under tent. Call at the exhibit and examine each ingredient used in Acme Minerals separately.

NEWS AND COMMENT ABOUT IOWA PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Odebolt, Sac county, is the center of the largest pop corn producing region in the world. Three big concerns, with cribs, elevators, shellers and drying plants handle 75 per cent of the world's output. The total acreage of popcorn in Iowa is estimated at 17,207 acres of which amount Sac and Ida counties contribute 12,707 or about two thirds of the total state acreage.

The killing of two alligators in the Boyer river in Crawford county has created much interest and inquiry in that region. Ed. Watje shot each of them in shallow water. One was four feet long and the other about two feet. Considerable speculation is rife as to the coming of these reptiles so far north. Such a visit would be possible as the Boyer, in company rivers, would afford a continuous water route from the swamps in the southland.

During the year ending August 1st the Auto Theft Bureau of the Des Moines police department, recovered 400 stolen automobiles. During the year 486 cars were stolen. The arrests made for auto stealing number 247. Many of these were convicted. If the cars stolen averaged $600 in value $291,600 are represented in the cars that were taken. The recovery of so large a per cent of the stolen cars indicates the intelligent vigilance bestowed by the theft bureau.

Merle Hay Road, which connects Des Moines with Camp Dodge, is undergoing repairs. This stretch of paved road was built six years ago of brick on concrete base. It has sustained a tremendous traffic and even now is in splendid condition, only a few short sections needing repairs. At the highest point on this highway is the great boulder that was placed, duly inscribed, in commemoration of the heroic courage of Iowa's first son to fall in battle on European soil, Merle Hay, of Glidden. The boulder weighs 6 tons. Near to it is a steel flag staff 40 feet high which supports a handsome silk flag, now floating at half mast in honor of President Harding. At the southern end of Merle Hay Road is the Swaney aviation field which has within its environs from twelve to fifteen airplanes of various sizes and types. Some of them are military and belong to the war department.

It required 2,100 automobiles to carry members of the Ku Klux Klan to Herröld, at the northwestern terminal of the old Camp Dodge drill grounds, where 300 new members were initiated. It is estimated that 8,200 members were present and wives of the klansmen to the number of 1,700 were permitted to sit in automobiles parked around the drill ground and watch the performance. One of the impressive features of the initiation was the burning of a large cross eight feet high. Fuses giving 200,000 candle power lighted the cross making it a spectacle and lighting up the field for several hundred yards. It is claimed that Des Moines and Polk county will have 10,000 Klansmen enrolled by fall. The initiation fee is said to be $10. Somebody will have received $100,000 in the solicitation of members. Add to the Polk county contingent the membership in other counties in Iowa and it is not hard to discover the cause of the activity among organizers.

The body of Suhria Mason, an Indian woman, was sent to Chariton, Lucas county, for interment. She died in Minnesota at the age of 98, and was a daughter of Chief Rhinehart who was buried at Chariton many years ago. Other members of the family are buried there. Chief Rhinehart was a member of the Pottawattamie tribe that roamed the prairies of western Iowa and eastern Nebraska in the long ago. These Indians trapped along the Chariton river and became attached to that section so that when Chief Rhinehart died his remains were brought at his dying request to Chariton for interment and thus a family burying ground was established and as the descendants of the noble chief became civilized the family tradition has been maintained. Several Indians accompanied the remains of the aged woman to Chariton where a Christian burial was given. Chief Rhinehart was a contemporary of Johnny Green, a character well known to early settlers in northern Iowa.

Miss Mable H. Kenea, of Clarinda, relates an interesting incident concerning a former at the close of the war with the late Capt. G. W. Burns. The negro was selected by Gen. John

T. Morgan, of the Confederate army, to serve as cook for himself and staff. Six months later the Union forces captured Gen. Morgan's division and the general was killed. Webb made his way to the union lines and served Gen. McCook and staff as cook for nearly four years, but he was never mustered into the services, and therefore has no claims for either remuneration or pension, although Gen. Mc-

Cook promised the colored boy that he would see that he was paid. At the close of the war Capt. Burns asked the colored cook if he would not like to accompany him north and the proffer was accepted. Through the passing years Webb has been cooking in hotels and restaurants, never lacking a job. When the Spanish-American war broke out he enlisted and was assigned as cook for Co. K, of Corning commanded by Capt. Burns. C. Pearis, and he was 18 months in the service, a large part of time in the Philippine islands. The old man is spending his last days among friends in Clarinda. He tallied intelligently of slavery days in Tennessee and the life of this old negro spans the years that have wrought wonders in the civic and commercial life of the nation and the world.

Lower The Cost Of Dressing Well!

When we speak of dressing better, most men think we mean spending more. We don't. We simply mean buying the suit that fits you better, becomes your type of figure, gives you that well-groomed look, And your size in a Kirschbaum suit will do it—at a very moderate cost.

A Debt to You

A suit owes you this: good style, comfort, service, a full return for every dollar of the cost. And the right kind of a suit — one made by Kirschbaum, for instance — pays this debt. Pays it always and in full.
