Packer Manager Receives Gifts And Knocks Out A Three Hit Base

PALMER'S TEAM DIVIDES BILL

Rasmussen Pitches Great Ball to Win First of Doubleheader.

The only thing that marred the total success of "Eddie Palmer day" was the loss of the second game of the twin bill with Denver. The Packers got the first contest with no great difficulty chiefly because of Store growth and the large growth and the la some great pitching by Art Rasmussen and some timely hitting by his mates. The second was started by Williams but the Bears got to him in the third, after counting once in the first, and before the side was retired by Schuman, five hits that counted the same number of runs had been made. The feature of the celebration was Eddie Palmer. After he had re-zeived a beautiful leather bag from the fans and a suit of clothes from Tom FaFirweather and a plug of chewing tobacco from a 'kid" ad-mirer, he pulled the unusual in his first time at but by eracking out a three base knock that counted Fairchild with first run of the game. It isn't unusual for Eddle to hit it made the recipient of gifts.

That wasn't all. Some of the fans, 5 to 1. who didn't get to do their bit on the first gift, presented him wich a tidy sum of money just as he appeared at the plate for the first time in the second game and he got a two bagger.
To get back to the games. The Packers and Bears each got a rut not be first inning. After Reagan was retired, McPhee walked. O'Brien's single sent him to second and he came home when Dlamond got a blow to left for one base. The Packers' score came on Fairchild's after the third inning when they scored five runs on as many hits.

or Vorkies, who relieved him. Bears got one in the first, five in the third and three in the seventh, the third and three in the seventh, which was the final inning.

Their victory in the first game gave the Packers the series, three games to one. Today they open a four game series at Des Moines.

Manager Palmer said that he wanted to thank everyholds who had

The Packers could not get to Hall

Manager Palmer said that he wanted to thank everybody who had any part in making the day so big a success and to say that he appreciated the beautiful and useful gifts he received.

When a golfer has determined the distance be can get out of a club without pressing he should adhere to it. Devote each club to its own distance.

I play the midiron as I do the driver, and the best that I can do in the way of tips and explanation of the shot is to quote from my diary. It is a record of mistakes made, afternoon with his strong corner of the strong faults corrected, and little discoveries have written a great deal about my iron play.

If you are hooking too much, watch the position of the hall off your left foot. Don't stand too open, because you hit down and fall away and around with it. You must hit that ball in the center of the club, and then your hands will tighten up unconsciously on the stroke. Do not swing so rounded. Swing more uprightly. You must roll these wrists, too, if you want success. Watch that chip of sod.

Hit down into the ball rather than up. Don't turn that toe incollected incollected a real quarrel when the Argentinian and Jack got started.

Take a chip of sod for it helps a great deal. The greatest thing is to swing independently with the arms and with the hands coming back first. It isn't very necessary to take turf when you have a good lie. The blade seems to meet the bail more at right angles when you take turf. I have a notion that the ball offers very little resistance to the flying iron, and the meeting of the clubhead and turf just slows up enough to Dempsey gave the fans quite a rut today as he warmed up with the giant negro. George Godfrey. The scene resembled the days back at Great Falls where, too, George was taking them on the chin.

The faithful Jack Burke, of Pitts burgh, also stepped in for a lively two rounds and before Dempsey completed the day's work he took a long whirl at the heavy bag. Earlier Dempsey shadow boxed two rounds and had a brief spell with the light bag.
