JONES' HITTING DECIDES BATTLE

All Stars' Outfielder Gets a Homer with Bases Filled.

By Joe Ryan.

Nicholas Alexander Jones, a young man who makes a specialty of wrecking perfectly good baseball games, wrecked one completely for the Black Sox at Stock Yards park Friday afternoon. Nicholas came up to bat in the eighth inning with the bases loaded. He had a contented smile on his face and he was not in the least worried. Williams got two strikes on Nicholas and then tried to make him cut at three bad ones, which was wasted energy, because Nicholas doesn't believe in cutting at bad ones. When Williams was forced to put one down the alley or give the All Stars a free run, Mr. Jones dug in his cleats and clouted the ball. Over the right field fence it went and with it went a baseball game, the final score being 6 to 3.

Nothing Unusual for Jones.

Performing such hitting feats is nothing unusual for Nicholas. No less than four times this year has he wrecked baseball games with his trusty club. He is what the experts call a natural hitter and if the ball is in there, he usually hits it. Nicholas got a triple in addition to the homer, but nobody could help him when that happened and he remained on third. That made him peevish and he decided he would take no more chances on anybody else, so he hit one so hard that there was no argument about it.

There was quite a little fancy pitching on display for the customers. Harrison, big righthander for the All Stars, allowed just four hits and one of them was of the "dunker" variety. In addition, he fanned eight of the opposition. Williams was touched for seven hits, but he kept them well scattered. It was his wildness that brought him grief. He started the eighth inning by giving Griffin a walk. Walter Harris then beat out an infield hit, Griffin taking second. Williams didn't want to pitch any good balls to Charley Hancock and the result was a free passage for Charley. That brought Jones to the plate, and the consequences have been mentioned before.

Score Twice in First.

The All Stars counted two in the opening inning. Womack doubled and took third when Emery threw poorly trying to catch him off second. Griffin's sacrifice fly to Vaughn counted Womack. Walter Harris was safe on Hilton's error and the catcher went on to third when Charley Hancock singled. Arthur Hancock pulled Palmer off first base on Sharp's grounder and Harris scored.

The Black Sox made a hit, a fielder's choice and an error count for two runs in the fourth and they went into the lead in the seventh on Hilton's double and Wright's single.

It was the managerial debut of "Murf" Murphy on the home lot and his team played real baseball all the way. The All Stars meet the Council Bluffs Athletics at Council Bluffs today and will play at Hartington, Neb., Sunday. Score:

JOCKEY LOSES SADDLE AND RACE THOUGH IN FIRST

By Al Demaree.

Jockey Walkens tells me a tough luck story that has few equals.

"I was riding Casette, C. VanBergess' 4-year-old filly, in a steeplechase at Pantico last spring," he says, "and, it was the irony of fate, that after winning she should be disqualified for carrying short weight, for I did all kinds of circus stunts to stay on her back.

"At the first jump I lost my stirrup irons, and had a tough fight to hold my seat. Then the saddle turned under me, and I had to ride backward.

"To cap the climax, the lead pad, which, in a way, stuck under me, dropped off at the last obstacle, and although I finally brought Casette through a winner by three lengths over Broom Wrack, she was disqualified for carrying short weight."

YARDS DEFEAT CUSHING CLUB

Jenny Has Edge Over Rasmussen in Fast Mound Duel.

The Stock Yards club added another victory to its list Friday afternoon by defeating Cushing, 2 to 1, in the final game of a three-day baseball carnival. It was a pitching duel between Rasmussen and Jenny, with the latter allowing only three hits. Rasmussen was hit rather freely, but was a great pitcher in the pinches.

Both clubs scored in the sixth inning. The Cowboys got their run on singles by Cleveland, Collins and Hinkley. Cushing counted on McDermott's double, an error and Rasmussen's single.

Singles by Collins, Hinkley and Rex Stucker gave the Cowboys the game in the eighth inning.
