

Monarchs Will Play K. of C. This Afternoon

What has the earmarks of being a good ball game will be played this afternoon at Association park when the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro National Baseball League meet the Knights of Columbus. The Knights have secured several well known semi-pro players for this afternoon's contest. The Monarchs returned to Kansas City late last night from Beloit, Kas., where a rainstorm prevented them from playing the third game of the series with the Beloit Leaguers. Each aggregation has won a combat. Brooks Hale, "Bob" Ebeck or Jimmie Burnett will pitch for the K. of C. lads with "Chunk" Wise doing the receiving. Currie, Donaldson or Crawford will be seen on the hilltop for the Monarchs and Rodriguez will catch. A preliminary game between two strong colored teams will be played. The first contest will start at 1:30. The lineup:
