

The World's All Nations players arrived Tuesday afternoon and played a game with the local team. This was the first time the Montrose boys have been on the diamond this year. A nice crowd of spectators and live fans were out to see the All Nations' game and they all seemed to enjoy it. The weather was fine this time and some good work was done by both teams despite the fact that Montrose lost the game. The professional team had it all their own way—the score being 7 to 0 in their favor. Donaldson, the colored wonder, pitched two or three innings, and he is evidently all he claims to be in his line. The game was very quiet, orderly and pleasant, and the season starts out nicely here. The boys will undoubtedly prove their ability to play good ball when they get a little practice and sort of "get under way" so to speak for the summer's work.

Game played May 20, 1916 at Montrose, SD