

ALL NATIONS TAKE GAME FROM PARKER

Parker, May 26.—Special.—Although the 8 to 0 score in the All-Nations vs. Parker game would indicate a one-sided contest, a glance at the summary indicates that the game was well-fought from beginning till the close, and that although at no time were the All-Nation players in danger of losing the contest, the Parker aggregation played with as much vim at the end of the game as at its start.

The All-Nations is a team of professional ball players who eat, drink, sleep, play and work baseball. They have played several seasons together, and are at it every day, so the fact that the Parker team held them down as well as they did is a matter for congratulation.
