

STORZ TEAM SWAMPED IN DOUBLE-HEADER

All-Nations Walk Away With
Two Games by 1 to 0 and 3 to 2 Scores.

Second Round With Colored
Portsider on Mound Goes
Full Twelve Innings.

About 4,600 screeching fans witnessed four hours of snappy baseball Sunday at Rourke park, in which the All-Nations took both games of a double-header. The first game was shortened to seven innings to allow the visitors ample time to catch a train, but the second battle required extra innings, the All-Nations finally proving the victors by registering in their half of the twelfth. Scores were 1 to 0 and 3 to 2, with the All-Nations on top.

The second game especially was a real thriller from start to finish, and the interest was further augmented by frequent demonstrations among the colored folks present. Their pet, "Broom" Donaldson, smashed all records in this vicinity for strikeouts, whiffing twenty-eight of the Browsers in the twelve innings played.

Mendez, the swarthy Cuban, proved true all the notices that have been printed of him, and emerged as the illuminating star of the day. He hurled the first victory for the visitors, allowing the Storz but three hits, and then batted in the fifth inning with a double behind a pass, that counted the lone run.

Paul Kelley, on the mound for the Storz, held his own with the Cuban in all but the fatal fifth. Kelley's mates were not in a swatting humor, but two of the locals reaching the second sack.

Donaldson and Mendez divided the honors as the chief trouble-makers in the second game. The tall colored port-sider was strictly in evidence owing to his ability in whiffing Bradford's men. The Cuban, not being content with his damaging efforts in the previous game, proceeded to add trouble to the Storz with a startling catch and two timely swats. That catch of Durkee's Texas leaguer in the eleventh stopped the locals from winning right there and then.

Morrie Olson deserves a lot of credit for his masterly work on the slab. He worked out of many predicaments in his usual careful manner, and it can be stated he was a victim of hard luck in the twelfth when Donaldson's hit landed on the slab and bounced too high for him to grasp the pill in time to throw the lanky twirler out at first.
