

STENGEL'S TEAM WON FIRST.

The Monarchs Lost to the Major Leaguers Here Yesterday, 3 to 5.

Sam Crawford held Casey Stengel's big league stars to seven hits yesterday at Association park, but the Monarchs lost the first game of the series, 3 to 5. The Kansas City negro champions had several opportunities to bat across the tying and winning runs but were unable to connect safely with the puzzling slants of "Speed" Martin, the Cub hurler who was on the mound for the big leaguers.

The major leaguers went after Crawford in the second inning and knocked in two runs. B. Meusel drove a double to the center field fence and scored a moment later when McNair dropped Stengel's long fly, the latter reaching second. "Cot" Tierney, a product of the Kansas City baseball lots, then drove out a double, scoring Stengel.

The visitors added three additional runs to their collection in the third and sixth innings on solid hits. The Monarchs scored two runs in the sixth on two hits and a sacrifice fly, the other counter being driven in on an error and two infield outs in the third. The final game of the series will be played today. Lee Meadows of the Philadelphia National League club will pitch for the stars. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock. The score:
