

Tuesday found Rube Currie again on the mound with Torrienti opposing him. The Monarchs led up to the ninth frame, 4 to 1. In the Chicago half of that stanza, however, the Giant pitcher, Torrienti, connected with one of Currie's slants for a round trip, forcing two tallies over ahead of him and tying the score.

The Giants tallied again in their half of the extra inning and won, 5 to 4.

Game played May 9, 1922 at Chicago, IL