

MONARCHS WON IN 12 INNINGS.

A Crowd of 15,000 Saw Giants Defeated in 5 to 4 Game.

Before a crowd of fifteen thousand, the largest gathering at Association park this season, the Kansas City Monarchs evened up the series with "Hale" Foster's Chicago American Giants yesterday, capping a 12-inning melee, 5 to 4.

In addition to hurling a splendid game, Wilbur Rogan, the Monarch hurling ace, won his own game in the final frame with a double, scoring Jamieson with the winning run. Tom Williams, Chicago hurler, who had not lost a game previous to the second tilt with the Monarchs hurled a splendid game for the Chicago gang, allowing the Monarchs seven hits, while his mates collected a down off Rogan's leaders but the Kansas City flinger kept the home knucks well centered and retired thirteen opposing batters via the strike-out route.

With two down in the ninth, and the game apparently lost, the Chicago club staged a rally and succeeded in tying the count, a trio of healthy blows doing the work. In the twelfth inning Moore was wounded, Donaldson injured him and scored when Rogan followed with a double. A wild demonstration followed, the Monarch leaver being carried from the field on the shoulders of many admirers.

In the third game of the series this afternoon Fred likely will do the flinging for the Giants, while Crawford or Donaldson will be on the mound for the Monarchs. The score:
