

THE STORZ TEAM TODAY, GREAT ATTRACTIONS

The Storz and A. O. U. W. teams will meet this afternoon at Rourke park, the game to be called at 3 o'clock. This will be the last opportunity the Brewers will have to play in Omaha prior to Decoration day, May 30, and Sunday, May 31, when they will meet the famous All-Nation team. In addition to the remarkable colored twirler, John Donaldson, undoubtedly the greatest negro pitcher in the world, and Jose Mendez, the Cuban wonder, known through the United States as "the black Mathewson," the All-Nations have secured Jesso (Cannon-Ball) Jackson, another colored pitcher, reputed to have equal speed to any pitcher in the game today.

The catching staff has been strengthened by the addition of "Chief" Mzhlektino of the Haskell Indians and the infield is reinforced, Walla, last year's third sacker, returning to his old position at short and a new man, Pedros, at third.

That those who witnessed the games last year will be out to see the marvelous work of Donaldson and Mendez, there is no doubt, and with the the hundreds who have heard of their remarkable performances, anxiously awaiting an opportunity to see them in action, the coming games will be the means of filling the Vinton street park to its capacity.
