DONALDSON STARS AGAINST LOCALS

There was a colored gentleman in the woodpile yesterday afternoon at Outlet park, and it was not difficult for the Watertown baseball team to distinguish his Neblets, although it was nigh onto impossible for the resident pillasters to locate the exact whereabouts of the various pitching offerings which the aforesaid linx in the fuel supply passed up for local consumption. And inasmuch as the colored gentleman was hurling to halt the ambitions of Paul's Colts, it went that way and the All Nation aggregation walked away with a 1 to 0 victory.

Buck Donaldson was the whole works for the visitors. The port sider of charcoal dye had everything, and especially control. He sent twenty-four of our sterling athletes back to the bench wondering how it happened, and allowed just one of them to tap out a safety. Sent out to do a quick job, Buck did that very thing, and inasmuch as he scored the only run of the game, proved to be about the whole show.
