Milbank (SD) Herald Advance July 25, 1923 p1 c6

The All Nations baseball team took Milbank's number here Friday afternoon, the final score being 14 to 1. The result is nothing more than was anticipated, since the All Nations are professional colored players with two or three white boys thrown in. All of them can play base ball for they do little else. The team is under the management of John Donaldson, who John McGrag six years ago declared was the greatest base ball player that ever stepped into a pair of base ball shoes. Donaldson played center field here and pitched the last inning for exhibition purposes.
