

The famous All-Nations appeared on the home grounds as scheduled Friday evening, and while they are without question misbranded, on the other hand they are without question base ball players. They proceeded to make runs without any delay, and when they thought the game was getting "draggy" and had runs a-plenty proceeded to strike out. They are in a class all by themselves, outside the Leagues, and we crave the opportunity to see them in a game with their equals. The Internationals put up a great exhibition of the National game all the way through, not making an error and executing two double plays. Stevenson pitched a good game, but the ability of the All-Nations to hit was too great a handicap. Davis was on the mound for the All-Nations and he allowed seven hits and his team made one error. Davis led in hitting with two clean home runs. Collectively they got 14 hits and made 12 runs. The Internationals made but one score. The paid attendance numbered 905.

Game played July 6, 1923 at Neche, ND