

JERSEY-ROYAL GIANT GAMES

Double-Header at West Side and Culver Avenues Sunday Afternoon.

One of the best baseball attractions of the season will be offered Jersey City fans Sunday, when the New York Giants, playing under the title of "Jersey City," will meet the Royal Giants in a double-header at the Jersey City Baseball Park. The first game will start at 2:15.

In the Jersey City lineup will be such stars as Hal Chase, Art Fletcher, Larry Doyle, Jay Kirke, Fred Wilhoff, George Burns, Ollie O'Mara, Lew Wendell, Red Causey and Al Demaree.

The Royal Giants have played great ball all season, and last Saturday, at North Bergen, they defeated the Tietjen & Lang team for the second time this season.

They are coming here Sunday to beat the Giants, as they realize that this is the first time in the history of their club that they have faced a major league team.

There has always been a great deal of discussion among baseball fans as to whether the colored stars could really defeat a major league team. They will make a desperate attempt to capture at least one of the games of the double-header. The fans Sunday will see one of the greatest colored ball players ever developed in Shortstop Lloyd, formerly of the Chicago Giants.

Many loyal followers of the Royals are coming over from New York to see the games Sunday. The first game will start at 2:15 p. m.
